

Terms of Use

The State Heroes program is a referral service only and not a lender or provider of mortgage services, title services, real estate services, legal services or any other service associated with real estate purchases or refinances.

Discounts and/or closing costs vary according to State laws and lenders. No discount or amount of discount is guaranteed. Please request a good faith estimate from each lender to review costs. The State Heroes program is not available in every State.

The State Heroes web site is the property of John Vickers and is protected by copyright and other intellectual property laws.

By completing and submitting your contact information you authorize us to release your information to a mortgage lender that has agreed to participate in the State Heroes program. You agree to be contacted by email, telephone or other means provided by you on the contact form.

State Heroes is not responsible for any delay for any reason if a response occurs slowly or not at all from a lending participant.

You are not required to accept any terms or conditions from any lender that may contact you as a result of your inquiry regarding the State Heroes program. You are encouraged to confirm licensing of the lenders and individuals offering mortgages to you and also to compare good faith estimates to ensure satisfaction of the terms being offered.

Any questions can be sent to info@stateheroes.com.
